

Rigor in Literacy: Literacy Strategies Across All Contents

Come learn effective strategies for helping students learn from text, by guiding them through the process of actively constructing knowledge from what they are reading.

Tuesday, September 29th, 2009

4:00 – 5:30

MS 256 (154 West 93rd Street, NYC, 10025)

In this workshop, content area teachers will explore literacy strategies that can help students be strategic readers in all subject areas. The basic premise of this workshop is that reading is not a content area; rather, AED believes that reading is a process that helps us think and make meaning from information.
